Bandstand Nears Goal

THERMOMETER RISES, GOAL IN SIGHT!!!

There is no question about it, the progress report of the Mattapoisett Bandstand Committee is very encouraging. In the past week, contributions have mounted rapidly. As a result, the thermometer index at the scene of construction now registers $5,500.

The bandstand is now capped. Mr. Bruce Rocha, member of the committee and serving as Clerk of Construction, reports he has received word that delivery of columns, ordered some weeks ago, will arrive sometime this week. No further delays are anticipated.

Contributions from children continue to arrive. This week's latest was raised from proceeds of a children's carnival held outside on the premises of 27 Hammond Street. Directing the event, which netted $11.38 towards the fund to "Build a Better Bandstand", were the Horne boys, Edward and Tracy, joined by the Barrows boys, Barry and Dale. In charge of the sale of drinks was Larry Sylvia.

The next meeting of the Mattapoisett Band Committee is scheduled for Thursday, October 8th, at 7:30 P.M. in the Town Hall.

No Burning Edict

Mr. Dennis Sylvia of the Mattapoisett Board of Health has announced that no open burning is to be allowed in the town under Massachusetts law now in effect. Open fires of any kind will require a permit from the Fire Chief, Paul Bradley. This does not include a charcoal fire in a backyard grille which is allowable. The Mattapoisett Board of Health has made application to the State for an extension of permission to burn at the town dump until June 1, 1971.

A ROAST YOU CAN TOAST

If you'd like to prepare a delicious, inexpensive roast beef that's a cut above the others, try using a liquor-flavored marinade to season and tenderize the meat. Bound to please family and guests alike, the highly spirited marinade also adds an intriguingly mysterious tang to meat juices.

Prepared properly, economical bottom or top round, eye of round, or rump can tell a tender story with a meaty plot. These lean, solid cuts benefit from soaking in a well-seasoned liquor marinade which helps to keep them moist. The marinade gives added flavor and brings out the rich, hearty beefiness. And the roast is easy to carve.

Providing a striking example of "bourbon renewal," here is a recipe for Gourmet Roast Beef Bourbon that will make you lick your chops:

- 1 beef round roast. 4 to 5 pounds (top or bottom round, eye of round, rump)
- ½ cup Bourbon
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 3 cloves garlic, minced
- 3 dashes bitters
- ½ cup oil
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups hot water
- 2 bouillon cubes

Pierce beef deeply with a long skewer and marinate for several hours or overnight in a mixture of Bourbon, sugar, lemon juice, garlic, bitters and oil. Turn occasionally. Remove from marinade and coat with flour mixed with salt and pepper. Lay on a rack in a 325°F. oven and roast about 35 minutes per pound, to the rare or medium rare stage, 140° to 150°F. on the meat thermometer. Baste with marinade from time to time. Remove meat to serving platter. To the pan juices add water and bouillon cubes and cook, stirring in the brown bits, until the sauce is smooth and slightly thickened. Strain into heated sauceboat. Serves six.

Programs for the year include the following: October 19, Jennie G. Morgan, "Citizens for Decent Literature", hospitality, Mrs. Arthur Hickey, chairman; Mrs. William Barnes and Mrs. Robert Demeo; November 16, annual Christmas sale, Mrs. James Getchell, "Slides from the Holy Land", hospitality, Mrs. Robert Sweeney, chairman; Mrs. Paul Palange and Mrs. Leonard Blodgett; December 21, Christmas Mass and party following at the home of Mrs. Stanley Washburn on Converse Road, hospitality, Mrs. Philippe Gaucher, chairman; Mrs. Joseph J. Mattapoisett Grange Mattapoisett Grange held its bi-monthly meeting last Thursday night with the worthy master Susan LaFleur presiding. Honored guests were Robert Ouellette, Pomona representative; Herbert LaFleur, Pomona master; and Roland Morris, master of Fairhaven Grange.

Mrs. Ollie Gifford reported for Home and Community Service reminding members of the rummage sale Friday, October 9th. One of her projects is to send a donation towards the new bandstand being built at Shipyard Park.

Resolutions were presented by Earle D. Wilson on the death of Lemuel LeBaron, and Mrs. Ollie Gifford read the resolutions on the death of William H. Winslow. These resolutions will be spread upon the records and a copy sent to the family.

Miss Doris Fearing was installed matron of Mattapoisett Junior Grange by Herbert LaFleur, installing master, assisted by Robert Ouellette as marshall, Mary Bumpus and Katherine Buckley, regalia and emblem bearers; and Mrs. Lemuel LeBaron at the piano.

The lecturer's program opened with a march. William Smith received the prize. It was

RULES... Editorial DCJ

RULES - FOUNDATION OF SPORTS

It seems inconceivable that, in a single decade, civil life in the United States could have deteriorated to the point that rules are all but eliminated. Yet, the recent America's Cup race underscores the fact that rules are now under strong attack in the sports world. A daily newspaper runs a cartoon in which a figure representing the New York Yacht Club guards an America's Cup which is chained to a pedestal. The chains are attached to a giant anchor labeled rules. This strong implication that the race was decided by an unfair application of rules is ridiculous. It ignores the facts. It ignores the words of the Australian skipper Hardy who proved to be a gentleman and fine sportsman. He stated that the disqualification of the Gretel was just. He also expressed an eagerness to try again. He said that if any blame was to be laid that it belonged to him because he had been outmaneuvered by Ficker.

International rules govern 12 meter racing. A race, run without them, would be meaningless chaos. The race committee decides whether the rules are violated by either side. They decide whether the race should be called and did so in the fog with the Intrepid well in the lead. It is rather sad that this purest of sports should be slandered by people who don't know what they are talking about. There is nothing in the sports world quite so beautiful as the 12 meter yacht. There is no finer caliber of sportsmen than the men who race them. In the sports world, rules are still king. They have to be in order to protect the contestants. In civilian life the rules have been subverted to the detriment of all. No sports team can tolerate members who are not in condition, lazy or poorly prepared. The United States has decided that as a country we can tolerate and support all manner of dropouts and law breakers but to extend this principle to even the simplest of sports contests would be to destroy the contest and render it meaningless.

The New York Yacht Club would do well to consider bringing in an international committee to oversee the races, certainly not because of any shortcomings of their own race committee, but simply to protect themselves from criticism by the uniformed.

BANKER TURNED TROMBONIST

It is rare that the combination of monetary acumen and artistic talent are found in one man, but out of New Bedford comes such a man to play under the baton of John Pandolfi for the Regional Symphonic Band. Phil Danforth is the assistant treasurer of the New Bedford Institution for Savings and his clients and co-workers are intrigued with this gentleman behind the desk who spends his evenings playing a very serious trombone. Phil has been playing his horn for 34 years inheriting a talent from his grandfather, also a professional trombonist. He has successfully tooted his way through

E. F. Searles High School in Methuen, Bowdoin College and the United States Army Field Band. At the unheard of age of fifteen he was accepted as an equal by the musicians of the Hampton Beach Concert Band.

Phil is married to a lovely lady who is a seventh grade teacher in New Bedford. When not playing with the New Bedford Symphony or the SMU Symphony or the Marion and Mattapoisett Bands, he can be found eating his favorite gourmet seafood at some of our leading restaurants. Reading classical American and English novels adds another dimension to this remarkable man.

Sitting in with the musicians of the Regional Band is - in his words - "more relaxing than rest. It is the change of pace and activity that I find enhancing."

We in the area are most fortunate to have tall, affable Phil with us - you almost forget he is a banker.

offense and defense as they dominated a Narragansett League contest with the Old Rochester Bulldogs Saturday at Dighton.

A 53-yard run by Jeff Olsen on a handoff from Bruce Malaguti was the opening shocker by the Falcons who failed to convert. The Bulldogs fumbled the ball on their own 20 after the kick. Two plays later it was 12 to 0 after Bill Maguire took it over. The Falcons passed, Malaguti to Boisvert for the 2 point conversion for a 14 to 0 score. Dan Davis scored in the second quarter and the point was missed. The score stood 20 to 0 at the half.

Old Rochester received after the half but lost the ball on an interception. The Falcons were stalled and forced to punt by the OR defense. In 6 plays, the Bulldogs scored on a Tim Reilly run around left end. The conversion failed as OR tried for 2.

The Falcons received the kickoff and, on second down, Malaguti faded to pass and found his receivers covered. He ran 56 yards to score. The score was 27 to 6 after the conversion was kicked by Davis.

In the fourth quarter, Paul Reilly scored on a pass play from quarterback Tim Reilly. The pass for the conversion was knocked down.

The Falcons scored one more time on a pass from Malaguti to Olson who caught on the 30 and ran the rest of the way to score. Davis kicked the point and the final score was 34 to 12.

This Saturday Old Rochester will play host to Case High of Swansea. Game time is 1:15 P.M.

D.A.R. Conference

Delegates to the State Conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution at the Yankee Drummer Inn recently were Mrs. Kathryn Ellis Nowak of Marion and Mrs. Elbridge A. Shaw of New Bedford, officers of the Fort Phoenix Chapter. Out of the 82 chapters in Massachusetts, there were 114 delegates present and 130 voting members.

There are a total of 188,000 members nationally - 29% of whom are between the ages of 18 and 35 - with nearly 3,000 chapters located in fifty states and overseas.

Mayor George A. Wells of Worcester gave a stirring opening address congratulating the organization for its patriotism - followed by a presentation of the keys to the City to the State Regent, Mrs. George C. Houser, of Chestnut Hill.

The DAR was incorporated in 1891 by a charter granted by the United States Congress - signed by President Grover Cleveland. The Society reports annually to the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, who in turn reports to the Congress.

It has three magnificent buildings in Washington which occupy an entire city block a short distance from the White House. The 56,000 books, pamphlets, and microfilm in its genealogical library are the most comprehensive in the country. Continental Hall contains 28 beautifully decorated rooms from various states depicting interiors prior to 1830. The John Hancock Room, decorated by the Massachusetts DAR, is one of the most authentic.

Constitution Hall, the largest building, seats 3800 people and is the largest auditorium in Washington. Many famous artists have performed there of all colors and nationalities.

Many do not realize that the DAR maintains two schools completely and contributes toward five other schools as well. It also contributes considerably to two Indian schools - St. Mary's an Episcopal School for Indian girls, and Bacone Indian College. The American Indians Committee receives $50,000 from the DAR annually. Many states give an Indian Scholarship - Massachusetts is one of them.

It also expends $200,000 on Student Loans annually and gives a $1,000 National Scholarship to the best national DAR Good Citizen chosen from high school girls. A new $8,000 scholarship was given this year for a four year student of American History who qualifies to teach history after college.

The Conference lasted two days with a banquet at which Mr. Kenyon Cull, headmaster of St. Mary's School, was the principal speaker.

It was announced at the end of the conference that all were invited to a Tea at the Colonel Timothy Bigelow Chapter in Worchester and a Workshop to be held at the Baptist Church in Norwood by the Boston Tea Party Chapter. The principal speaker will be Mrs. Lyle Howland, recording secretary general, NSDAR, whose talk will be "Patriotism at Work", on November 14th, starting at 10 A.M.

Protect Ocean Area

MARINE SANCTUARY AT CAPE COD

Congressman Hastings Keith today filed a bill making the ocean area stretching seaward 30 miles from the Cape Cod National Seashore a national "marine sanctuary".

"The value of this area, in terms of both fishing and aesthetics, is immense," Keith said in explaining the bill, "and it should be protected from exploitation."

Under the Keith bill, a 30-mile wide arc, extending from Race Point in Provincetown to Monomoy Island off Chatham would be maintained in its current state by the Department of the Interior.

Oil and gas drilling would be banned, as would dumping and mining of sand and gravel.

The bill's introduction coincided with a renewed interest in protecting coastal areas by the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee. Hearings were held last week on several bills designed to control the uses of the waters adjacent to the nation's coastline.

"Congress and the country are becoming increasingly aware of the dangers involved in the current unrestricted uses and exploitation of the oceans," Keith said.

"The ocean area off the Cape is an historically rich fishing ground, and provides an aesthetically monumental experience for the millions of visitors to the Cape Cod National Seashore," Keith went on. "If any area deserves protection, this one does".

The proposed sanctuary would complement the one already established by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, which protects the three-mile wide strip controlled by the State.

pill-popping middleaged Americans.

This huge group of well-meaning people are doing themselves a great disservice as a result of their ignorance about their own bodies. With their frequently self-prescribed drugs to calm themselves down or pep themselves up, they are asking for possible heart damage, and in turn, endangering their own lives.

DRUGS ARE "POISONS"

When a physician prescribes a drug as medicine, he very carefully weighs the risk of giving it to the patient against the risk of not doing so, because he knows that technically speaking all drugs are "poisons". (This does not apply to vitamins and hormones given in small amounts to repair a deficiency.)

Drugs are used as medicine because they exert on the body, or on the bacteria attacking it, one kind of poisonous effect which counteracts or reduces the effects of another kind of poisoning that we call disease.

But even if a drug has been prescribed by a physician, it still should not be regarded as completely free of more or less harmful side effects. This should point up the danger to people who decide to take drugs without prescription for whatever pleasant or socially desirable effects they believe will be produced (pain killers, sleeping pills, alcohol, and tobacco are included here).

damage if large doses are taken over a long period of time. Some pep drugs (tricyclic and piperidine antidepressant groups) can cause changes in the heart rhythm. The second of these is also known to aggravate pre-existing coronary artery disease.

As for the mind-altering drugs, abused mainly by young people, none damages the heart directly, as far as we know. However we do know that they have an adverse effect on the circulatory system, chiefly by acting on nerves regulating the heart beat and the function of peripheral blood vessels. The hundreds of deaths that occur every year in young persons taking these drugs result from their stopping breathing -- a result of the drugs' direct effect on the respiratory center.
